Skills & Experience

I am a well-rounded and experienced psychiatrist with a passion for optimal patient care experienced in a wide variety of settings. I recently retired as the addictions counselor for the Central Intelligence Agency in where I would screen, assess, treat, and refer CIA employees and other persons of interest in the intelligence community. I "moonlight" for Emergency Services of the Fairfax County Government CSB, where I see individuals of all ages and socioeconomic backgrounds for assessment, crisis intervention, and medication for problems concerning personal crises, suicide risk, depression, anxiety, psychosis, alcohol or substance-related issues, or relapse. I have a telepsychiatry practice and see patients 10 hours per week for a variety of outpatient psychiatric conditions. I recently began a part-time position with an outstanding group of clinicians at SaVida Health (formerly Experience Wellness Centers) as their addictions psychiatrist. I also provide remote, after-hours coverage for the inpatient units and Assessment/Referral Center of the HCA hospital system in central and southwest Virginia. I am well-versed in psychopharmacology, cognitive-behavioral therapy, positive psychology, and crisis intervention therapy. I was a U.S. Army officer, Medical Corps (60W), reserve, for eight years with two deployments and have a lot of interest and experience in psychological resiliency and coping with stressful experiences. I also have an ongoing area of interest in health and wellness, sleep, nutrition and mental health, building self-skills and relationship skills, and positive psychology. I have established briefings and trainings on ADHD, building self-esteem, strengthening relationships, building resiliency, and psychopharmacology. I strive for successful outcomes through knowledge, experience, humanity, and careful attention to individualizing treatment plans via a collaborative alliance with patients.
